

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 13.

WHEN REMONSTRATED with recently by a southern congressman for appointing an im proper man to an important postoffice in the South, Postmaster General Wamamaker replied: "I don't see why you should object, for if the office be not conducted properly, the administration will suffer." This demonstrates Mr. Wamamaker's dense and utter ignorance of the people of one half of his country. Administration suffer! Administration fiddlesticks. The sufferers are the people whose mail is entrusted to the man referred to. How can the administration suffer? It would be different in the North, where democrats and republicans alike receive mail, and where the republican party is composed of reputable men, who are respected by their fellow-citizens, and where an improper federal appointment would naturally react injuriously upon the appointing power. But in the South the conditions are entirely changed. Nearly all the mail that goes to the city alluded to, is directed to democrats, whose opposition to the administration is already so great that nothing could possibly increase it, and where the republican party is composed entirely of negroes and a few scoundrels, upon whom property or propriety in the conduct of a government, or any sort of office, is in the city in which they live, has as little effect, and is of as small concern, as if that office were in the moon. Mr. Wamamaker should visit the South in person, and learn something about the people and political parties of the southern States. Should he do so, he would soon find out that a republican administration is not injured in the remotest degree, in the South, by the appointment of improper postmasters, or other federal officers, in this section of the country.

MAYOR HOTCHKISS says a railway line from Charleston, W. Va., to Culpeper would bring coal to tidewater at Alexandria by a route one hundred miles shorter than that by the Norfolk and Western Railroad route. Why capitalists fail to see and avail themselves of the advantages of Alexandria, not only as a shipping port, but as a manufacturing point, is by no means the least of the strange things of this strange age. The trouble and expense of building new towns with neither railway nor water communication, and with none of the many other business and social facilities required for the growth of large and prosperous cities, are gone to, while Alexandria, possessing all of them in an unequalled degree, is entirely overlooked. The men who shall be quick to see these facilities and to put them to use, will only regret their previous delay in doing so.

SENATOR GORMAN says the pension expenditures provided for at this session of Congress will amount to two hundred million dollars. Of the sixty million people of this country, at least one-third live in the South, and are not beneficiaries of these pensions. The remaining forty million of the North therefore get the whole amount, or five dollars apiece. Five dollars a vote will buy many a one at the next Presidential election for the republican candidate in the northern States. The worst of this is that the poor people of the South are made to pay their full share of this enormous bribe by taxes laid on the necessities of life.

DURING THE debate on the McKinley tariff bill in the U. S. House of Representatives, an opponent of that bill said the owners of the protected industries in Pennsylvania, while asserting that a high tariff was chiefly for the benefit of American labor, imported foreign laborers with such unpardonable names that they had to be designated by numerals. This statement was denied and ridiculed by the protectionists. But, to behold, it is substantiated in every particular by the republican census enumerators in Pennsylvania, who have reported the fact to the census bureau at Washington.

REV. EDWARD EVERETT HALE in his address at West Point, yesterday, said, "the South does not know the North." The reverend gentleman was evidently rattled or is sadly ignorant of the true condition of his country. He put the cart before the horse. He should have said the North does not know the South. The truth of such a statement would have been recognized by all the well-informed people among his large audience.

FROM WASHINGTON.
(Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13, 1890.
There are a number of London people in the city to-day who are industriously claiming the convention for the 8th district to be held this year at Leesburg. They assert that as they never had a convention held there, and as they always roll up the largest democratic majority in the district, besides having hotel accommodations and a large and new opera house, that London is more entitled to it than any other county in the district.

James M. Wolz, son of Mr. J. W. Wolz, of Fredericksburg, through the influence of Representative Browne, has been appointed to a position in the fish and oyster branch of the census bureau.
In the House to-day General Lee presented petitions from Ann G. Tinsley, of Orange county; Washington and Caroline Tate, formerly of Culpeper but now of Fauquier county; and Thomas M. Grayson, of Fauquier county, for the reference of their war claims to the court of claims.
Work by the republican members of the Senate finance committee on the tariff bill is drawing to a close. Complete schedules of the bill, except those of tobacco and sugar, have been given to the minority, and Senator Carlisle is now engaged in preparing the report of the minority to accompany the presentation of the bill to the Senate. It is said that the majority will make no report in the shape of an argument in favor of the measure, confining itself to the statement of reasons for making the changes reported and the table showing the relative specific duties in cases where ad valorem duties are laid, in accordance with the resolution passed by the Senate.

The Senate District of Columbia committee to-day agreed to take both the Georgetown and Arlington and the Washington and Arlington railroad bills from the table, and referred them to a sub-committee composed of Senators Barbour and Higgins. As the latter is recommended by the Secretary of War, will build its own bridge across the river, and is intended to be produced to Mr. Vernon, through Alexandria, while the former is to run to Falls Church, it is supposed it will at least receive the preference of the committee.

Republicans from the 1st congressional district of Virginia here to-day say that E. J. Spady of Northampton county, and Smith J. R. White of Caroline county, are spoken of as rivals of Congressman Browne for the republican congressional nomination in that district next fall.

The following changes in the 4th class postoffices of Virginia were made to-day: Craft, Scott county, J. F. Starnes appointed postmaster, vice M. Craft, removed; Deane, (now Brayton) Greene county, W. J. Deane, vice J. L. Deane, removed; Gratiot Springs, Spotsylvania county, J. H. Swift, vice J. H. Biscoe, resigned; Lomond, Carroll county, L. Branscum, vice C. L. Wolz, removed.

The House committee on reform in the civil service, in their report to-day, praise Commissioners Roosevelt and Thompson, but censure the other member of the civil service commission, Mr. Lyman.

The Senate committee on fisheries commenced the investigation of the charges against Commissioner McDonald of the fish commission to-day, but the newspaper correspondents who had published those charges refused to reveal the sources of their information, and so the investigation was suspended.

Vice-President Stahlman, of the Louisville and Nashville R. Co., continued his argument before the House commerce committee to-day, in opposition to the bill allowing the interstate commerce commission to fix railroad rates, and G. W. Ford, a theatrical manager, made an argument in support of the bill to allow railroad companies to give special rates to theatrical companies.

The House committee on elections has decided to report in the House next week the Mississippi contested election case of Chalmers vs. Morgan. This will be followed during the ensuing week by the Virginia case of Langston vs. Venable, and the South Carolina case of Miller vs. Elliott. The committee has allowed $2,000 each for expenses to the parties to the cases already decided, except in the case of Otto, of Arkansas, who was allowed $500. The majority report in the Venable case gives Langston the seat by three separate counts, the lowest by 127 votes, and the highest by 731. But it does so by accepting as returns of the election in the 3d and 6th wards of Petersburg, not those made by the sworn election officers who conducted the election, but those made by sworn publicans who stood outside the polls and kept the voters from entering the polls, and by throwing out entirely the vote of one precinct in Lunenburg and one in Amelia counties.

The Farmers' Alliance in Caroline.

A letter from Caroline county to the Fredericksburg Lance, in an account of a speech recently made there by Mr. J. Brad. Boverly, son of Mr. Robert Boverly, of Fauquier county, says:

About 3 p. m., after a considerable whooping, a very small crowd assembled in the court room, where it had been announced that J. Brad. Boverly, State Lecturer of the Farmers' Alliance, would speak and was eloquent in the interest of the cause.

President Pierson introduced the orator. Col. Boverly is by no means unshapely in appearance. He is of medium height, massive forehead, prominent and lustrous blue eyes, curling locks and wears a heavy brown mustache. The speaker, after introducing his vest and collar several times, launched out. The burden of his song was but a rebash of his father's speeches on the subject. Claimed that the grievances of the farmers of the country were worse than the afflictions of Job.

He spoke in gesture, tone and words, as if he were the Messiah of the farmers in this hour of trial and tribulation.

He read copiously from letters he claimed were written in England, by which he detailed much of the opposition he claimed was being brought to mountain height upon those who toiled mother earth for their daily bread. Said a good deal about Mr. Hazard and Salmon P. Chase.

In substance, he did not oppose the greenback party. Talked effusively of the republican Queen and thought her a dame most comely in her dispensations. At the democrats he frowned, pulled his mustache, stamped his feet, and surrounded with grievous sins of omission and commission. At times the speaker seemed disposed to take flight heavenward and leave old mother earth in hazy distance; but his apparent overcoming modesty would as often set in, and again he would pace slowly along with tame-like prosiness.

He reminded his hearers that the Alliance should be the "ocean to river of all their thoughts." That within its folds, protection to their minds, bodies and estates should not, not only in firm foundation, but embelished in beauty, such as Grecian chisel never traced. He said that there was a grand, climatic feature in the organic law of the Alliance, and that was that no lawyer, no merchant, no any other calling, save the brawny tiller of the soil, could pollute its sanctuary by its membership. He said the old-guard was always upon the ramparts with a drawn sword ready to stay their footsteps from the secrets of the Holy of Holies.

As the Colonel progressed, his audience grew beautifully less, and when he was about through, the greater number of them had gathered about Vincent's saloon, where "old Uncle Archie," an old fashioned Virginia left handed negro fiddler, was "running off" on his violin, "Sugar in the Gourd."

TRIED TO KILL A PRIEST.—The Rev. Father Patrick F. O'Hare of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church, Greenpoint, L. I., had a lively experience with a supposed lunatic yesterday morning. He had just finished celebrating mass and had entered the pastoral residence when the door bell rang. He opened it himself, whereupon a middle aged, well-dressed man sprang upon him with a yell and seized him by the throat. Father O'Hare is something of an athlete, and he struggled fiercely with the man. It was of short duration, however, as a number of parishioners and Policeman Kelly came to his assistance, and the man was taken to the station house. There he gave his name as James Clear. He does not however live there. He said he came from Ireland a short time ago, and went to live in Boston. Ever since his arrival he claims to have been hounded by somebody. He said he wanted to kill Father Joseph McCoy, the assistant pastor. Clear was afterward assigned in Justice Greeting's Court, but Father O'Hare refused to make a charge. He was, however, held for examination as to his sanity.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Crop reports for every section of Canada are most encouraging.

Henry L. Eames' straw hat factory in New York was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $75,000.

Mr. Silston Hutchins, of Washington, and Miss Rose B. Keeling were married in Baltimore last night.

A woman who was bitten by a rabid cat in New York ten days ago is being treated, with good prospects of recovery, by Dr. Gibber.

Joseph Cochran, a mill employee at Norristown, Pa., was instantly killed on Wednesday night by stepping on a live electric light wire blown down by the storm.

The reason for Mr. Mills declining to serve on the House Committee on Rules was, it is said, because he does not wish to be associated in committee work with Speaker Reed.

At the National Temperance Congress in New York yesterday Joseph Cook and General Green Clay Smith said they feared that blood will have to be spilled to suppress the saloons.

The Coal Trade Journal says: "The soft coal market is very steady, although the larger contracts are being taken at much lower figures than last year the general price is a little above that of last year."

Motions have been made for a continuance of the trial of Frank K. Ward for killing Morris Adler in Washington, and for his admission to bail, on the ground that his mental condition is such as to unfit him for trial.

Lightning struck a number of places in Baltimore during a severe wind and hail storm yesterday evening, but the damage was comparatively small. The same storm blew down trees and did considerable damage in Washington.

Charles J. Loring, a handsome Englishman, is wanted in Chicago on charges of bigamy. Loring had a man for marrying. He came to this country about five years ago and brought with him a wife. Since then he has married five times without the trouble of procuring a divorce.

The famous old hostelry, the Astor House, in New York, had a narrow escape last night from destruction by fire. The building, adjoining the hotel, and the flames extended before much damage had been done. The Astor House was owned by William Waldorf Astor.

Rosie Braunrauter, a bride of only six weeks, threw herself in front of a train at the Rushing avenue station of the Union Pacific Road in Brooklyn, N. Y., with suicidal intent last evening. Although dragged along the ties for several feet the only injury she sustained was a compound fracture of the right arm. In reply to questioner she said she could not tell what induced her to attempt suicide. "When I jumped off the platform," she said, "I realized what I had done and tried to jump back, but the train was upon me before I could move."

VIRGINIA NEWS.

The county levy in Loudoun county has been fixed at 20 cents on the $100.

Mr. Frederick N. Fleming died at Louisa Courthouse on Thursday from paralysis.

Mrs. Jane S. Stephens, one of the oldest inhabitants of Spotsylvania county, died yesterday.

Mr. J. B. Hickerson, of Fauquier, and Miss Florence Brown, daughter of the late S. C. Brown, were married in Stafford county, yesterday.

Thomas Williamson, a well known citizen of Fauquier, was found dead in his yard yesterday morning. He was formerly a merchant in Warrenton.

The sheriff of King George county took to the State prison yesterday two convicts—Edward Windsor, convicted of housebreaking and sentenced for ten years, and W. M. Rives, forger, two years.

The body of Charles A. Chalkley, of Richmond, who, on Saturday last, jumped from the deck of the steamer Tellerstein while on her way from Richmond to Old Point, was found yesterday a little below City Point.

Between now and January 1st Governor McKinney will appoint a commissioner of agriculture to succeed Colonel Thomas Whitehead who is a candidate. Colonel Randolph Harrison, a former commissioner, is his most prominent opponent. Mr. S. Welford Corbin, of King George county, is also a candidate.

A very heavy hail and rain storm visited a portion of Clarke county Wednesday evening, about 5 o'clock, totally destroying many crops on farms adjacent to and lying northwest of Berryville. Hail fell as large as hen eggs. A fearful storm of wind, hail and rain also passed over the eastern portion of Rockingham county that night. Fences were blown down, trees uprooted and the crops cut by the hail.

TRIP IN A BALLOON.—An account of Bucharest recently imagined a vain thing—vain for him, because he scarcely appears to have been as competent as might be desired. He was anxious to show how pleasant and secure a trip into cloudland might be made. A Roumanian lieutenant listened to the voice of the charm, or, and, with other persons, was induced to ascend. When at a height of 3,000 meters ballast was thrown out, and, as a popular novelist would put it, a strange thing happened. Much to the surprise of the whole party of aerial voyagers, the ballast fell in their faces, almost blinding them—the balloon was descending to mother earth with terrific force. A fearful smash was only just prevented by sacrificing all the ballast and the balloon then bounded to an altitude of 1,650 metres. After a narrow escape from drowning, first in a lake and then in the Danube, the adventurous travelers landed at dusk on Bulgarian soil and had to kick their heels in a desolate neighborhood until morning. The aeronaut, according to the lieutenant, who chronicles the voyage in the Revisit Amatei, smiled cheerfully the whole time. The passengers will probably reserve their smiles until they are again asked to trust themselves to the tender mercies of a trip in the atmosphere.

A FROG IN A TREE.—While cutting a fourteen inch stick of timber at the Onahla mine recently Sam McIntire found a live frog imbedded in the centre of the stick. Aside from the frog's limited quarters, the timber was sound. His frog probably derived sustenance from the sap of the timber, but where did it receive air from? Or does the frog require air? Instances such as this are frequently recorded. —Grass Valley, Cal., Tidings.

DEATH OF AN OLD LADY.—Mrs. Lucinda Tension, widow of the late Samuel Tension, died at Annandale, Fairfax county, on Wednesday, June 11th, aged 92 years and 9 days. She had been for many years in receipt of a pension from the Government in consideration of the gallant exploit of her husband in the war of 1813 with England, in capturing a boat load of marines from a British man of war in the Potomac river.

The President yesterday vetoed the bill for the erection of a public building at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

Proceedings of Congress.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.

SENATE.

Mr. Morrill presented remonstrance from two counties in Vermont against the imposition of a duty on tin.

The resolution offered yesterday appointing Edward K. Valentine Sergeant at Arms of the Senate was taken up and agreed to, an amendment offered by Mr. Harris, substituting the name of Henry W. Wall, of Tennessee, having been first voted down.

The Senate silver bill was then taken up and Mr. Morgan resumed the floor.

HOUSE.

The House after the reading of the journal, went into committee of the whole on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

Mr. Cannon said the amount of appropriation carried by the measure was, in round numbers, $28,000,000. The sundry civil law for the current year provided for an expenditure of $25,000,000.

Mr. Cannon said the 14 regular appropriation bills as reported to the House aggregated an expenditure of $306,000,000, showing an excess of $35,000,000 over the appropriations for the current year.

Dry Goods Sale.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The sale of the stock of the bankrupt firm of John F. Plummer & Co., dealers in dry goods, took place to-day in this city. It was a peremptory sale and as the goods were expected to bring low prices, buyers were present in force. Representatives of the leading Philadelphia, Chicago and Cincinnati houses were there as well as many from the ready-made clothing houses and woolen jobbers of this city. The attendance was out of all proportion to the number of goods to be disposed of and the result was that big prices were obtained.

Death of a Missionary.

BOSTON, June 13.—News has been received of the death of Rev. Edward T. Doane at Honolulu May 15. For 35 years Mr. Doane was a missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. During the dispute between Germany and Spain as to the ownership of the Caroline Islands Mr. Doane was seized by the Spanish authorities, put in the hold of a vessel and sent to the Philippine Islands. He was finally liberated through efforts of Julius Voigt, the U. S. Consul at Manila. He leaves a widow and two children.

Threatened Trouble with Indians.

MILES CITY, Mont., June 13.—The attitude of the Indians continues to be menacing. Owing to the fact that they have left their reservation and are scattered over the country, settlers are thoroughly alarmed and are sending women and children into town in large numbers. Indian lookouts are constantly signalling by mirror flashes and blanket code. Friendly Indians have reported to whites that there is to be an outbreak.

Texas Highwaymen.

JOSHUA, Tex., June 13.—Three highwaymen, one of whom was masked, rode into Joshua last night and stopped at the store in which the postoffice is located. They were heavily armed, and robbed the postoffice of what money it contained, together with what money was in the store. The robbers, after getting gold watches and $200 in money, made their escape.

Suicide.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, June 13.—An old man named Joseph Battle was found on the railroad last night with his head severed from his body. He had laid his neck across the rails in front of a backing engine. Shortly after his death a message addressed to him from his son at Gladstone was received asking him to return home, as his wife was dying.

Discharged.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Judge Cowling in the Court of General Sessions to-day dismissed the indictments against John Keenan and ex-brother Alderman Henry L. Sayles. They were charged with bribery in having participated in the steal of the Broadway Railway franchises.

Railroad Accident.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 13.—A passenger train on the Connohon Valley Railroad was run into this morning by a switch engine at Newburg, two miles from here. No person was killed but twelve were wounded.

Telegraphic Brevities.

An explosion occurred to-day in a drying chamber of the powder factory at Spandau, Germany. Several workmen were injured, and great damage was done to the factory. The delegates to the 12th annual convention of the dancing teachers of the United States and Canada held an executive session in Baltimore to-day to consider changes in the constitution of their organization, then walked into carriages and chaises and around the town.

A special from Mayville, Ky., says a train on the Chesapeake and Ohio road ran off an embankment by reason of a washcut and Engineer Roadchap and Fireman Honaker, were killed. Another trainman, name not given, was killed.
The storm through central New York State last night did great damage to crops, roads and bridges. Norwich was flooded. The eastern part of Oneida was submerged, the water being four feet deep on the first floors of residences. The Ontario and Western tracks for a distance of several miles were under water, and it is reported that much of it is washed away. At Solville, mills and barns were washed away, as was also 20,000 feet of lumber.
The engine of a freight train crashed into a passenger train on the Cleveland, Canton and Southern R. R. at the Jones' avenue crossing, Cleveland, O., this morning, and several persons were severely hurt. The engine of the freight nearly cut one of the passenger cars in two.

There was a free fight Wednesday among a number of cowboys in Socorro, N. M., resulting in the death of three men.

The Columbus, Ohio, striking street car men have accepted the proposition of the consolidated company, and will return to work at a compromise scale.

Frank Warren was shot and instantly killed by his sixteen-year-old son at Elmira, N. Y., this morning. The boy says his father was threatening to strike his mother when he fired.

It is said that the Lower California filibustering scheme is fully as extensive as has been reported. It may result in an increased military force being placed along the Mexican border by the United States government.

An incendiary fire on Second avenue, Frankstown, Pa., at one o'clock this morning, destroyed the office building of the Elba Iron Company, a number of dwellings, two butcher shops, a saloon and several stables. During the progress of the fire a number of dwellings were robbed. The loss was $18,000.

The Season for July has been received from the International News Company, New York. It contains all the new styles and fashions of ladies' gowns and other female apparel.

Mr. Wm. Walters has sold his mill property in Fairfax county to Mr. Everett Browne.

MONEY AND COMMERCIAL.

Financial affairs have been dull during the week, but in New York and Baltimore the business in railroad shares has been active, particularly in E. & D. and B. & O. shares. Virginia bonds are dull and but little is doing. It is said in Baltimore that the new movement for a compromise settlement of the Virginia debt question has met with general favor. In Baltimore money was quoted yesterday at 4 1/2, and in New York at 3 1/2.

For local shares we quote:
Va. com. Co. 65..... 52 53 1/2
Va. com. Co. 65 with coupon..... 52 00
Va. 10-40..... 44 00
Va. 10-40s Coupons..... 45 00
Va. 3s new..... 68 1/2 0
Va. C. C. Jan. 1882..... 68 1/2 0
Va. C. C. Jan. '85, 1 Jan. '85..... 33 1/2 0
Va. C. C. N. F..... 25 27
Va. 10-40 C. C. Jan. 1885..... 67 00
Va. 10-40 C. C. F. Y..... 67 00
C. F. & Y. V. G. A..... 105 105 1/2
C. F. & Y. V. G. A..... 103 1/2 103 1/2
Virginia Midland 3ds..... 109 109 1/2
Virginia Mid. and 5ths..... 102 00

NEW YORK, June 13.—The stock market was again very quiet this morning. The London figures came generally higher, but this market failed to respond to the improvement and first prices, while showing only slight changes from last evening's figures, were quite irregular. The early dealings developed a firm tone, however, but after slight advances prices settled back to last night's figures. The market gave no evidence of being anything but a traders' market, and no further feature was developed. At 11 o'clock it was quiet and barely steady, but generally at small fractions better than the opening prices.

BALTIMORE, June 13.—Virginia Gas consolidated—10-40s 43 1/2; do 34—.

Wholesale Prices of Produce in Alexandria.

Flour, fine.....	$2 25	0 25
Superfine.....	2 75	0 30
Extra.....	3 25	0 35
Family.....	4 25	0 45
Family brand.....	4 25	0 45
Wheat, Longberry.....	0 81	0 68
Falls.....	0 80	0 87
Mixed.....	0 81	0 87
Fair Wheat.....	0 75	0 80
Damp and tough.....	0 60	0 75
Corn, white.....	0 43	0 45
Yellow.....	0 42 1/2	0 44
Mixed.....	0 41 1/2	0 43
Corn Meal.....	0 44	0 45
Rye.....	0 40	0 48
Oats.....	0 33	0 37
Butter, Virginia prime.....	0 10	0 12
Common to middling.....	0 5	0 8
Eggs.....	0 14	0 15
Spring Chickens.....	0 15	0 18
Live Chickens (hens).....	0 8	0 9	Veal Calves.....	0 4	0 4 1/2	Irish Potatoes per bushel.....	0 80	0 1 00	Onions.....	1 25	0 150	Dried Peaches, peeled.....	0 10	0 12	" " unpeeled.....	0 4	0 5	" Apples.....	0 6	0 12	" Raisins.....	0 6	0 12	Bacon—Hams, country.....	0 11 1/2	0 12 1/2	Best sugar cured Hams.....	0 11 1/2	0 12 1/2	Butchers' Hams.....	0 11 1/2	0 12 1/2	Breakfast Bacon.....	0 7 1/2	0 8	Sugar-cured shoulders.....	0 7	0 7 1/2	Pork shoulders.....	0 5 1/2	0 6	" Lard, sides.....	0 6 1/2	0 6 1/2	" Fat back.....	0 6 1/2	0 6 1/2	" Bellies.....	0 6 1/2	0 6 1/2	Bacon shoulders.....	0 6	0 6 1/2	" Sides.....	0 7	0 7 1/2	Lard.....	0 6	0 7 1/2	Smoked Beef.....	0 13	0 14	Sausage—Brown.....	0 5 1/2	0 5 1/2	Conf. Standard A.....	0 7 1/2	0 8	Granulated.....	0 6 1/2	0 6 1/2	Coffee—Rio.....	0 19	0 21	La Guayra.....	0 21	0 22	Java.....	0 24	0 26	Molasses B. S.....	0 14	0 16	C. S.....	0 17	0 22	New Orleans.....	0 25	0 28	Pork Blot.....	0 22	0 32	Sugar Syrup.....	0 22	0 35	Herring, Eastern, per bbl.....	3 00	5 00	Potatoes No. 1.....	3 51	4 00	Port Family Roe per bbl.....	4 75	5 00	Do. 1/2 barrel.....	2 50	2 75	Potatoes Shad.....	8 00	8 50	Mackerel, small, per.....	0 00	0 00	" No. 3, large fat.....	13 00	22 00	" No. 2, large fat.....	20 00	24 00	" No. 1, large fat.....	35 00	27 00	Clover Seed.....	3 50	4 00	Timothy.....	1 50	1 70	Old Process Linseed Meal.....	31 00	32 00	Pistons, ground, per ton.....	4 75	5 00	Ground in bags.....	5 00	5 50	Lump.....	3 50	3 75	Salt—O. A.....	0 70	0 80	Fine.....	1 10	1 60	Turk's Island.....	1 35	1 30	Wool—Long uncleaned.....	0 24	0 25	Washed.....	0 30	0 32	Marino, unwashed.....	0 20	0 22	Do. Washed.....	0 20	0 22
Live Chickens (hens).....	0 8	0 9
Veal Calves.....	0 4	0 4 1/2
Irish Potatoes per bushel.....	0 80	0 1 00
Onions.....	1 25	0 150
Dried Peaches, peeled.....	0 10	0 12
" " unpeeled.....	0 4	0 5
" Apples.....	0 6	0 12
" Raisins.....	0 6	0 12
Bacon—Hams, country.....	0 11 1/2	0 12 1/2
Best sugar cured Hams.....	0 11 1/2	0 12 1/2
Butchers' Hams.....	0 11 1/2	0 12 1/2
Breakfast Bacon.....	0 7 1/2	0 8
Sugar-cured shoulders.....	0 7	0 7 1/2
Pork shoulders.....	0 5 1/2	0 6
" Lard, sides.....	0 6 1/2	0 6 1/2
" Fat back.....	0 6 1/2	0 6 1/2
" Bellies.....	0 6 1/2	0 6 1/2
Bacon shoulders.....	0 6	0 6 1/2
" Sides.....	0 7	0 7 1/2
Lard.....	0 6	0 7 1/2
Smoked Beef.....	0 13	0 14
Sausage—Brown.....	0 5 1/2	0 5 1/2
Conf. Standard A.....	0 7 1/2	0 8
Granulated.....	0 6 1/2	0 6 1/2
Coffee—Rio.....	0 19	0 21
La Guayra.....	0 21	0 22
Java.....	0 24	0 26
Molasses B. S.....	0 14	0 16
C. S.....	0 17	0 22
New Orleans.....	0 25	0 28
Pork Blot.....	0 22	0 32
Sugar Syrup.....	0 22	0 35
Herring, Eastern, per bbl.....	3 00	5 00
Potatoes No. 1.....	3 51	4 00
Port Family Roe per bbl.....	4 75	5 00
Do. 1/2 barrel.....	2 50	2 75
Potatoes Shad.....	8 00	8 50
Mackerel, small, per.....	0 00	0 00
" No. 3, large fat.....	13 00	22 00
" No. 2, large fat.....	20 00	24 00
" No. 1, large fat.....	35 00	27 00
Clover Seed.....	3 50	4 00
Timothy.....	1 50	1 70
Old Process Linseed Meal.....	31 00	32 00
Pistons, ground, per ton.....	4 75	5 00
Ground in bags.....	5 00	5 50
Lump.....	3 50	3 75
Salt—O. A.....	0 70	0 80
Fine.....	1 10	1 60
Turk's Island.....	1 35	1 30
Wool—Long uncleaned.....	0 24	0 25
Washed.....	0 30	0 32
Marino, unwashed.....	0 20	0 22
Do. Washed.....	0 20	0 22																																																																																																																																																															